JOINT KNOWLEDGE ONLINE

JKO provides 24/7 global access to online courses and Web-based training resources. The capability delivers Web-based access on military classified and unclassified networks to required, theater-entry, and self-paced training to prepare for joint operations and training exercises. It is used by combatant commands, Combat Support Agencies, Services and other DoD organizations for online training and education requirements, distributed small team staff training, to augment collective events and exercises, and for self-paced professional development. JKO is based upon a modern, scalable architecture that can readily adapt to meet emerging needs. The distributed learning architecture integrates government off-the-shelf products and commercial interface standards, reducing total overall costs and enhancing sharing of digital training and education content through a standards-based, nonproprietary capability. Learning resources include media- rich courses, videos, tailored, immersive scenarios for small group exercises, University-style online classroom sites, area-specific language and culture training, Enlisted Joint Professional Military Education courses, and a dedicated support team.

JKO is accessed on military classified and unclassified networks. Direct access to JKO courses with a Common Access Card (CAC) or login and password is available by going directly to https://jkodirect.jten.mil or http://jkolms.jten.smil.mil. Find more information about JKO on our website at www.jcs.mil/jko.

To login to JKO you must have an active user account. DoD military and government civilians who have been issued a CAC are able to self-register for a JKO account. Individuals that do not have a CAC, but have a government or military email account (i.e., ending in .mil, .gov, nps.edu, or dodea.edu) may obtain a login and password account. Individuals and multi-nationals that do not have a CAC or government or military email account may request a sponsored account. A link with instructions for requesting a sponsored account is provided on the JKO login page.
